

Have you got a
law degree?
Find out more.

Corporate governance analyst

Provides assistance in the acquisition of the information required for the needs of the Board of Directors, as well as organizing and taking minutes in meetings. Is committed to ensuring the adequacy, completeness and clarity of information flows to the board. Shares their know-how with the work team, with a view to professional growth and mutual exchange of knowledge.

Junior Human Resources

Is responsible for defining recruitment and selection needs as well as personnel management processes. Is involved in the control of employment and labour costs, in the management of remuneration/incentive systems and in labour disputes. Works in an international and challenging environment.

Compliance analyst

Collaborates with the competent functions of Eni for compliance activities, contributing to the definition of a KPI system for the evaluation of processes in terms of effectiveness and efficiency. Also provides support for the identification of appropriate improvement actions and for the development of information systems of competence. Thanks to collaboration with interdisciplinary teams, develops a strategic and highly competitive know-how.

Legal affairs analyst

Provides support to the legal assistance function in the various matters of interest to Eni and its subsidiaries, both in Italy and abroad. Also assists in the elaboration of opinions and the definition of defensive legal strategies in litigation. Team spirit and collaboration are crucial elements for those who carry out this role, in synergy with their team colleagues.

